THE ART OF NATIONS

This week some time we saw a picture of an imposing building encased in scaffolding and learned that it was the Harding Memorial under construction. It reminded us that everywhere in various parts of this country people are building things that will endure and be very pleasing to the eye. In time there will be such a list of striking works of man that this country will be as interesting to the student of beauty as the old world, where the accumulation of artistic things has been going on for centuries.

Each country has its style in painting, architecture, sculpture and the like but there is a common language of art. That is why it is agreeable to note the receipt of numerous books and plates showing the art of Spain by the Prescott Public Library. Even the most stodgy person ought to get a thrill out of examining the pictures of wonderful paintings, etchings of carved metals, tapestries and public buildings.

Only one other such national review of art has come to our attention lately and that is the book depicting various graphic arts that are practiced in Sweden. If it never occurred to you that a Spaniard or a Swede might have innate qualities of beauty and a talent for expressing them in permanent form, a glance at these volumes would be a joyful disillusionment. On some day in this mad country we shall rest and learn to appreciate, following which there will develop a capacity to create.

Maybe by declining to run Mr. McAdoo thought he would have a better chance to get even with certain statesmen in his party who are planning to run.

Boss Won't Marry Vamp, But Likes Her As Secretary

By ESTHER HALSTON

Diplomacy enough to get along with my wife, is the prime requisite for a secretary, according to one harassed business man who wrote "confidential" on his confession.

"I'm looking for a secretary who requires to work and not to marry her boss," answered another.

"She must be sensible; she must be executive enough to manage me, keep me on time at appointments, protect me from nuisances, make me do my work," said another.

And so they go, these business men who were good enough to answer a questionnaire in which I inquired about the qualifications of the ideal secretary. I had just finished acting in a picture "Figures Don't Lie" in which I play the role of a stenographer, and I wanted the help of men who knew in order to give a convincing interpretation. More than 500 gave me the benefit of their experience, and their answers are so interesting I want to pass them on. Here the secretaries may see themselves as their bosses see them.

Don't Marry Vamps

Love affairs and business do not mix. I learned by almost unanimous verdict. Many men marry the kind which tries to vamp them while taking dictation. They marry the one who first made themselves indispensable as partners of the amorous employer who tries to force attentions upon his office help did not get much attention. The men thought the girls usually started such episodes.

Speaking of the sentimental side of secretarial, most of the replies indicated that the position is second in difficulty only to that of a wife, and easier only because the hours of association are shorter. After a girl has been a thorough education in men from her secretarial experience, brought to make an ideal wife.

In other words, a secretary's job must be to please. It is a task for her to admire her employer's suggestions, and before she leaves at night, to frantically if there is anything which needs to be done.

She ought to be a first class shopper. She ought to remember the wife's birthday and be able to buy appropriate gifts for her. She ought to have good taste in men's neckties and shirts, so she may be trusted with such commissions for the boss.

Blondes and brunettes, strange to say, ran practically neck and neck in the voting. It doesn't seem to make much difference. But a vast majority of the men prefer pretty secretaries to ugly ones.

"Beauty is not essential at all," wrote the vice-president of a bank. "But it is a great mistake to pick an ugly and unattractive girl simply because you think she will be safe. They're never safe and a man must take a chance. A nice looking secretary often is a great business asset when it comes to explaining things to people you can't lend money to."

At least half of the replies regretted they could not take it for granted as a basic qualification that their secretaries would spell accurately.

"Originality is to be encouraged in nearly every direction except that of selling," said one.

Among the usual ways that secretaries annoy their employers were listed: Temperament, long personal phone calls, sick families, too much conversation, high-batishness, tardiness, curiosity.

And what the men wanted, they thought, included good sports, tact, loyalty, cheerfulness, silence, energy, neatness, judgment and 7,000 other virtues.

What Your FACE TELLS

By Betty Morrison PSYD.

GLOOMY GUS IS A LONG-NOSED BIRD

When one comes upon the man or woman whose spirit is gloomy, whose nose points with the tip decidedly downward, whose mouth expresses forbidding in its lines, one feels a chill almost like that of January. This nose, which in its size and line denotes energy and power, has the unhappy curve at the tip which expresses a pessimistic nature.

There are many excellent qualities present in the individual with this development of nose. He is honest and conscientious, and within limits—just. But he is lacking in hope and faith and has a streak of suspicion in him. A hopeful, cheerful mental attitude should be cultivated because it increases the circulation and produces a wholesome influence upon all functions of the body.

To quote the poet Wordsworth, "Nature never did betray the heart that loved her." And Bryant sings, "Go forth under the open sky and list to nature's teachings."

Long walks in the open air and sunshine are among the greatest happiness restorers to such an individual.

dividual as the one in today's illustration. This individual needs much of the life-giving element, oxygen, on which we are all so dependent. And this is one of the finest means of driving dull care away. You can be happy in spite of your nose—your nose follows your mind.

YOUR MARRIAGE PROBLEMS

By Patricia Lee

The problem of Mr. and Mrs. T. concerns the rearing of their children. Mrs. T. insists in the observance of certain niceties of behavior, while Mr. T. argues that they should be allowed to express themselves unreservedly. As a result, the children are beginning to grow rude and inconsiderate and the situation is bringing about frequent quarrels between father and mother.

Says the WOMAN
Dear Patricia Lee:

I am a poor woman but I was reared in a home where good manners and consideration for others prevailed. I have two children whom I am trying to bring up in the same way. My husband says I am too particular, and should let the children express themselves. I do not impose impossible conditions upon them but I do think that certain conditions should be observed between members of a family. At the same time I believe there are rights to which children are entitled. This policy of letting the kiddies alone until they are old enough to learn better of their own accord as my husband insists is making them rude and inconsiderate of others. When they are rude and naughty in the presence of others my husband laughs and calls them clever, which only makes them worse. We have agreed to bring up by your advice, Mrs. T.

You are right, most assuredly as children can be allowed to express themselves and at the same time be thoughtful, kind and considerate of others. Such training will save the kiddies many a disappointment when they grow older and face the real battles of life. Then, too, no matter how harem-scarem they may be now, when your boy and girl grow up and reach the high school age they will become sensitive about the details of good form. No parents are too poor to give their offspring a background of good manners, which will be of inestimable value in later years and which will enable them to adopt themselves to any groups. A home which is the nursery for youthful courtesies produces men and women who are masters of all social requirements.

Says the MAN
Dear Patricia Lee:

I have been a widower two years and have a little girl of 10. My wife, who was twelve years my junior, was frivolous and craved a good time. My business took up all of my time so she began to go out with my cousin, a young man about her own age. That was two years before her death. Finally she confessed she had been untrue to me. I drove her away from home, as I did not consider her a fit person to care for our child. I never saw her again, though I am told that she repented and lived a blameless life from that time until her death. My little daughter has reached an age when I feel she should be told. I believe the knowledge of her mother's misstep would act as a safeguard as she grows older.

RALPH D.

I'm sorry—but I can't agree with you. Mother, father and God are a child's trinity—and by destroying your child's faith you would be taking from her a priceless possession. Don't you realize, Ralph, that faith is a safeguard for which there is no substitute? Take away a girl's faith, her ideals, her youthful illusions, and you take away her strongest incentive toward right living. True, knowledge is a knowledge you would impart to your little daughter. I am not condoning your wife's wrong, but after reading your letter I cannot help but marvel at your self-righteous attitude. Is it possible that you do not realize the part you neglect, your lack of understanding, your unforgiving spirit might have played in the sad little drama four years ago?

A coat of novelty fabric in an unusual pattern is developed in two shades of brown, showing large cuffs of fur in contrast to the plain fabric collar.

MOUTH HYGIENE

There are many lessons in health to learn, but none is more important than the proper care of the mouth. Cleansing one's teeth is not enough. People, particularly residents in large cities, inhale much dirt and dust every day of their lives. Some of this dirt collects in the back of the throat, and if there is little resistance these germs cause sore throats. An antiseptic mouth wash in the morning upon arising and in the evening upon returning home will act as an effective germicide in most cases. A teaspoonful of salt in a glass of hot water is an old-fashioned and excellent remedy for an irritated throat. The regular use of decay between will help prevent decay between the teeth. Frequent massaging of the gums above and below is one of the best ways to prevent receding gums or pyorrhea.

SYNOPSIS

Don Hernandez Vasquez and his beautiful granddaughter Dolores occupy the old Vasquez ranch overlooking San Francisco that was once by the King of Spain. The prosperity that came to San Francisco by the discovery of gold passed by the Vasquez ranch where Dolores was discovered by Buckwell, San Francisco's political boss, and his lawyer, Brandon, with Brandon's nephew, Terry, are sent to the ranch with an offer to buy it. Brandon fails to accomplish his task, but Terry falls in love with Dolores.

"It is red, senior," Dolores' tone implied, "it is forbidden." His hand was below hers, holding the stem. "But a Vasquez gives a red rose only to the man she loves." There was no coquetry in her remark. "Then I must win it from you, please—I want it, because I—" Terry choked and could not finish. He had spoken very softly as if afraid of his own boldness. He watched her breathlessly.

Without knowing why she obeyed, Dolores let go of the stem and the red rose of love was in Terry's possession!

The spirit of youth enveloped Dolores and the stranger friend who in a few short moments had become something more. A glorious, elusive veil of Romance seemed to settle around their throbbing hearts and made them strangely and contentedly in the old Spanish patio.

Back in the living room Brandon had not made the desired progress with Vasquez. He pushed disgust.

The carriage rolled away but Terry did not forget to look back for a last glimpse of Dolores as she stood beside her Grandfather.

Brandon was not at all concerned with Terry's thoughts. He entered on the young girl of the rancho, nor did he bother to recall that although they had not been introduced they were sitting together beside the fountain, very much absorbed in each other when he came out from his unsatisfactory interview. The incident made no impression on Brandon because it had nothing to do with money. He was already mentally preparing a report for his chief, in which Vasquez was to be described as a "blithering idiot."

Close to the hacienda, Vasquez and Dolores watched the departing carriage. Their thoughts were as far apart as possible for two people who are so fond of each other.

"Bah, what a swine," breathed Vasquez in a cold voice through his teeth, set lips that were as hard as steel. "That the hacienda has been defiled by his presence."

Aroused from her own pleasant thoughts Dolores looked at her Grandfather. She was hurt and surprised. "But he is my grandfather!" she cried. "Oh!" as it dawned on her whom he meant, "but, Granddaddy, the young senior was quite nice."

Fortunately Vasquez did not even hear. He was thinking of Brandon's threat, the fighting blood that had been aroused and he determined not to give in. Squaring slender shoulders he stalked away to plan what would be the best procedure when the unknown graffer tried to take his beloved rancho away from him, the last male descendant of the Vasquez line either in Spain or America.

Dolores looked down the road until the last cloud of dust from Terry's carriage had scattered in the air. Her luscious full lips were curled in a gentle smile. She was sure that he would come again and blushed modestly at her own boldness in wishing that it would be very soon.

CHAPTER IV

The Czar of the Tenderloin

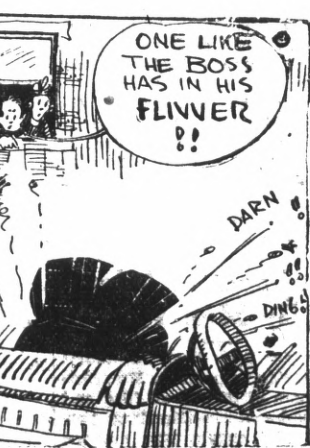

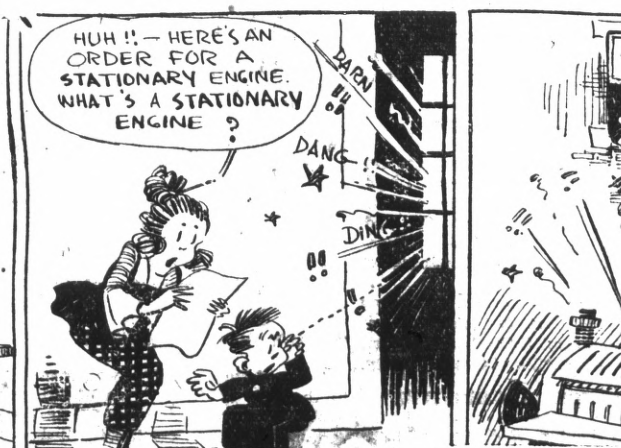

San Francisco's Chinatown was an acute and growing problem to certain of the city bosses. Its ever increasing prosperity was a golden river of privilege money constantly flowing into the pockets of the political ring, but its six tong rulers were a decided menace to their peace of mind. Their wealth and power were a factor to be feared.

Of all the bosses who waxed fat and prosperous from the privilege pickings Chris Buckwell—the Czar of the Tenderloin—was the greediest and most cruel. He had risen from obscurity to the very pinnacle of power and as the leader of San Francisco's political ring and king of the underworld, was ruthless in his persecution of the Chinese.

Picture if you can a person, a stocky, heavy shouldered with a forehead like a Greek bard and a face like Mephistopheles and long, magnetic eyes of piercing blackness. Imbued this man with all the cunning of the East and the sophistication of the West in one shrewd intellect and you have a fairly accurate mental picture of Chris Buckwell.

"LAST TRAIL" NOW SHOWING AT RICHMOND

Tom Mix, playing the role of Tom Kane, in his latest Fox Film drama, a version of Zane Grey's famous Western novel, "The Last Trail" coming to the Richmond theatre today, rescues a white girl from the camp of the Sioux Indians, on the warpath in their last efforts to drive the white men from the buffalo hunting grounds of the Dakotas.

Mounted on Tony, his sure-footed horse, Mix followed by Lee Shumway, playing an Army scout, dashes into the camp, kills the girl and races away. The race and the fight continues to the gates of the stockade, where soldiers see the dash of the gallant horsemen, open the gates and let their rifles loose. The girl becomes the wife of Joe Pascal, the scout, who moves to an Arizona mining camp and becomes a sheriff as soon as the Indians have been subdued and peace restored to the Dakota hills. The remainder of the story is even more exciting, with a lot of the action centering about Tommy, the four year old son of the Pascals, who is left an orphan when his sheriff father is killed.

Other film features include, "What'll You Have" a roaring comedy; and "Felix Jack of Trades" a Felix the Cat comedy cartoon.

MILTON SILLS IN "FRAMED" AT CALIFORNIA

Men who have lost their faith in humanity are prone to seek out-of-the-way places to bury themselves and their troubles. The remote corners of the earth are peopled by such disillusioned, unfortunate, and "Framed," which today is the story of such a man.

Milton Sills is an officer in the French army during the World War and on being falsely accused is court-martialed goes in an embittered state to the diamond mines of Brazil. There he is trapped by a modern Circe and adds all womankind to his other hates.

In the end, through the love of a pure girl, he regains his normal state of mind and all ends happily.

Thrilling scenes during a "mud rush" in the mines, examples of the toil and life in the humid jungles along the Amazon, tense drama and emotional climaxes, make this photoplay, produced by Ray Rockett and directed by Charles Brabin one of the best that has been offered by First National Pictures in a long time.

Other features include "Wild and Wooley" a Jimmie Adams comedy "Around the World With the United Press," showing how the news of the world is gathered "Felix the Cat" and "International News."

Looking as fresh as a Killarney Rose

TO BE SURE, it came up at the Bridge Club;

but for that matter hadn't it been spoken of behind teacups for nearly a year—ever since the Lees had settled in the old Farnum estate on Westwood Road? How could any mortal woman, Cynthia Lee included, come home from shopping, looking as fresh as though she were walking in from a swim?

Cynthia's house guest confided the answer. "She has an easy time shopping, because she knows just where she's going before she sets out.

First, she read the advertisements, cutting out and arranging the ones that show the things she wants.

Then she swings around the circle and comes home . . . That's all there is to it."

If you want to come home from shopping looking as fresh as Cynthia Lee, read the advertisements daily.

Study the advertisements. They are so much better than buying at random

Identity Of Man Dead In Crash Held Mystery

MARTINEZ, Oct. 20.—Identification of the man killed at Bay Point in collision of an automobile driven by W. T. Roley of Martinez and a truck operated by Christian Hanni of Pittsburg, seemed remote today when Deputy Coroner Charles Guy of Concord, received word from Brookings, Ore., that J. A. Driskell, who it was thought might be the victim, is alive and well.

Belief that the man, killed a few minutes after he had begged for a ride, was Driskell was aroused when Guy discovered Driskell's name on a label in the coat. Word from Brookings says that Driskell gave the coat to an itinerant.

Further evidence that the man was not Driskell was supplied when Oakland and Richmond acquaintances of Driskell telephoned Guy and made a comparison of descriptions.

Time of an inquest into the death of the man, believed to be about 60 years of age, has not been fixed.

GEM PROOF FOOD
Unlike many fruits the banana reaches the consumer in a germ-proof package, sealed by nature herself. The thick enveloping skin effectively protects the edible portion from bacteria, molds or other contamination. Furthermore, the pulp is particularly immune from insect pests. A worm-eaten banana is unknown. In the governing of the bananas from the stalk a special designed knife is used to avoid tearing the skin and exposing the pulp. This feature of retail service should always be insisted upon by the purchaser in order that the natural germ-proof package may remain intact.

WHY I BLUSHED

A friend of mine called on me one day last week. She left her baby's carriage in the small front yard. Hardly had she been seated when the bell rang. I answered the door and a man said, "Lady, is the carriage to go with the other rubbish?" He was carting the ashes and waste from the yard and she said she needs a new carriage!

That's the beauty of Gas fuel

WITH the new gas-fired warm-air heating systems the air is heated without coming in contact with the gas flames. Only pure, warm air goes into the rooms.

Here is reliable, economical and absolutely carefree heating for your home.

So buy a good gas-fired furnace. Get it from a dealer who will install the furnace correctly. For that means long years of economical operation. But remember—there's little economy in a cheap furnace installation. So you better talk to our gas heating specialist first, for he'll gladly advise you about specifications that insure economical and efficient gas heating.

DE PAOLO WINS S. O. LEAGUE A. A. A. SPEED PIN RESULTS CHAMPIONSHIP

(By Universal Service)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—Peter De Paolo, the speedway flash, who calls Los Angeles his home, has again sustained his reputation as one of the greatest drivers of the age by winning the American Automobile Association speedway championship for 1927.

The announcement that De Paolo had placed first on the basis of point total awarded in the national speedway event for the year was made today by the contest board of the A. A. A., which supervises and regulates official championship racing in the United States.

De Paolo was also champion in 1925 and is one of the six drivers who ever won the most coveted prizes of the roaring road twice. Frank Lockhart, duplicated his 1926 performance by again placing second. George Sounders, Purdue University student, who startled the racing world by winning the Indianapolis classic on May 30th without previous experience in major league racing, was third.

Fourth place was secured by Leon Dury, while Harry Hartz, one of the most consistent performers of the speedway, and A. A. champion in 1926, was forced into fifth position as a result of an accumulation of bad luck throughout the season, culminating in the last race at Salem, New Hampshire, in one of the most spectacular accidents in racing history.

The next five drivers in order of placement were: Babe Stapp, a newcomer in major racing, of whom great things can safely be expected next year; Earl De Vore; Tony Gulotta; Dave Lewis, and Cliff Woodbury.

De Paolo accumulated 1440 points for the season; Lockhart 1040, and Sounders 1000. While De Paolo won the most glory, he was by no means the biggest money earner of the season.

Lockhart earned $43,110; Sounders, $31,800 and De Paolo $27,080.

"KNOCK DOWN" PREDICTED FOR FIGHTSTONIGHT

Don't be surprised if you have to stand up tonight at El Cerrito if you're late. Rossi has sold more tickets than for his banner heavyweight show than ever before. Reason, fans are all hot for this ten round main event and it is freely predicted that this fight will be the greatest ever staged in years. Both are big fast fellows who can box, hit and are both game as a pebble. Both are youngsters. Not worn out or shop frayed as some old timers. They have the speed the youth and the vim that gives the fan the thrill that only the youngster with real class can give.

Lee is probably the more polished. Lee has been boxing a bit longer. Lee has boxed better men than Beasley, therefore he may be the more confident. Such as Ray Pelky famous Oakland heavyweight says Lee gave him his hardest draw fight some time ago and he was fortunate that the bout was only a six round affair as Lee was going strongly while Pelky was fast getting weaker. Ray said he thought Lee was a sucker and did not train. Pelky has also been sparring with Beasley for this fight and he predicts that Beasley will give Lee a hard go. It looks like a close one. Gameness will probably be the biggest factor tonight. The man who can stand the gaff is the one that will in all probability win.

The six round semi is attracting a bit of attention itself, with Bobby McIntyre of Oakland and Spark Plug Boyd doing the honors. Spark showed he had a lot of class at the last show. Coalman held on for dear life and Spark Plug could not display his best but it will be different tonight. In McIntyre he faces a youth who is fast clever hard hitting and a boxer. McIntyre stopped Battling Siki here his only start several months ago and showed a lot of class.

Mickey Brown, the pride of Richmond, who looks better every start and about one of the most pleasing performers to every show will box the special event against Billy Lakeman of Oakland. Lakeman has done most of his boxing down around the Imperial Valley and is a main event there. His only start here was when he knocked Nate Hireson kicking in two rounds. He has had far more experience than Brown but he will have to be some speedy boy to outbox Brown. Mickey showed his worth when he gave young Farrell two tough fights.

Manuel Vasquez who knows little about boxing but still keeps in the win column will box Mickey Dolan of Oakland in a four rounder.

Johnny Pendon a tough Stockton Filipino has a date with Joe Vierra, rugged little Oaklander, who always battles in the four round curtain raiser.

Capt. Hal McCreery and the Stanford Cards, determined that it is time they are getting a start in this Pacific Coast football race, are on the Cascade Limited near Portland this morning. Stanford, having been beaten by St. Mary's and tied by U. S. C., hasn't arrived anywhere in particular yet this season, and if the Reds do not make a start against the Oregon Aggies tomorrow, they may as well postpone efforts to annex a Conference title until 1928.

The U. S. C. game was to have made or broken the Reds, but it turned out a standoff, and did neither. It didn't put them out of the race, nor did it place them in it. The Trojan battle did show the Cards, however, how bad they are in some respects, and, on the other hand, that final drive against Southern California demonstrated to McCreery and his cohorts that they have something when they are able to buckle down and play football.

But, though that final drive saved Stanford a beating, it didn't win a game, and the Reds are determined, as they near Portland this morning, that they must start their real campaign for Conference honors against the Aggies tomorrow. A defeat at the hands of O. A. C. would practically rule out the Cards.

The Glen Warner squad worked out at Palo Alto at 1 o'clock yesterday, quit at 2, caught a 3 o'clock train to San Francisco, boarded the Cascade at 4:40, and now is due in Portland shortly before 4 o'clock this afternoon. "Pop" will hurry his men from the train to the stadium immediately on arrival and hopes to get a full time practice on the sawdust field in the Portland stadium.

The Aggies are due down from Corvallis early today, and plan to have their workout completed before the Reds are in uniform.

Coach Warner stated that the regular first string Stanford team will open against Paul Schimmler's machine tomorrow. The "announced" line-ups are as follows:

O. A. C.	Position	Stanford
Robbins	LER	Davidson
Luce	LTR	Freeman
Bradley	LGR	Robesky
Geddes	C	McCreery
Ellers	RGL	Post
Schnell	RTL	Sellman
Logan	REL	Preston
Maple	Q	Lewis
Luby	LHR	Hill
Whitlock	RHL	Wilton
Avritt	F	Hoffman

The Aggie eleven above is considered by all northern fans several notches stronger than the team which lost to U. S. C. by only one point a week before the Stanford-Trojan game.

C. C. Sportsmen To Ask Second Game Warden

MARTINEZ, Oct. 20.—The game warden problem in Contra Costa county will be the main topic at the regular meeting of the Contra Costa County Sportsmen's Club tomorrow night in the justice court here.

Twenty years ago Tom Duncan of Clayton, was appointed game warden of this county on a half-pay and half-time basis. Since that time the county has undergone considerable growth and the hunters and fishermen of the East Bay are using this county to excess for their sport. Demands have been made for two wardens to be engaged on full-time and pay. More game can be brought into the county with the additional protection that two full-time wardens can provide. Club members declare. The Sportsmen's Club will suggest names of the members of the club for the appointment by the California Fish and Game Commission at Sacramento.

Members of the Richmond Sportsmen's Club have been invited to attend the meeting tomorrow night.

Attorney Hikes For Dinner FRANTIC FOWLS FLÉE BIG FEAST Chocolate Disparaged As Food

Homer Patterson, local attorney, six hungry men finally overcame the farmer's hesitancy, and he consented to sell the chickens, "if they could be caught." It seems these chickens were half wild, having lived in the mountains, miles from any chicken coop, all their lives.

Six hikers and one farmer finally cornered two chickens which were not long in disappearing from earthly confines. In addition the party consumed an untold quantity of butter, and eggs. "And, finished Patterson, "that was the best dinner, I ever ate, baked wild chicken."
